

Tools and materials

At this webpage, we present various tools and other materials developed for use in diagnostic evaluation and treatment of dementia.

A brief case-finding instrument for dementia (BASIC)

The Brief Assessment of Impaired Cognition (BASIC) is a brief and accurate case-finding instrument for dementia and cognitive impairment. Previous research indicates that combining cognitive tests with informant and self-report may improve accuracy in dementia case-finding. BASIC integrates these three sources of information.

To see the video manual, click on the picture below:

You can read more about BASIC here

This page is under development and will be updated regularly.

Latest update: 09. March 2022